

Balance between Coriolis and pressure gradient yields geostrophic current, which runs "around the hill", parallel to the slope.