Book Your Space Now

There are still some great spaces left. Our exhibitors are industry leaders in manufacturing, technology, production, distribution and support services.

And this year they come together under one roof with direct and immediate access to an audience of decision-makers from the forestry and bioenergy sectors. A revamped format means a larger and more diverse expo.

All meals and networking events will take place on the trade show floor, putting exhibitors at the centre of the action from morning til night.
